CHAIR'S REPORT: Supporting Our New Chair and Vice-Chair

As we look ahead to the coming year, I would like to ask all Enfield u3a members to give their full support and encouragement to our new Chair and Vice-Chair.

Taking on these roles is a commitment of both time and energy, and they will be relying on the support of the committee, group leaders, volunteers and, most importantly, our members.

I am sure that, working together, we can continue the progress that Enfield u3a has made over recent years.

Our strength has always come from our members and volunteers who give their time, ideas and enthusiasm to make our groups and activities successful.

I would encourage everyone to continue getting involved, suggesting new ideas and supporting the many activities taking place across our u3a.

Together, we can help Enfield u3a continue to grow, welcome new members and strengthen the important contribution we make to our local community.

I wish our new Chair and Vice-Chair every success in their new roles and look forward to seeing Enfield u3a continue to go from strength to strength.

Thank you to everyone for your continued support and commitment.

IT ALL STARTED WITH A PROJECTOR AND A LAPTOP!

I joined u3a in October 2013, shortly after retiring from the Metropolitan Police.

My mother is to blame for me joining! The committee needed some help with a new projector and laptop they had purchased. They were very surprised when I managed to get everything working, especially one committee member who had spent a lot of u3a money on the equipment and was struggling to make it work!

I was then persuaded to join the committee, not quite knowing what to expect. They were a friendly mob, just as we are today.

Technology has developed at lightning speed, and we have managed to keep up, allowing our speakers to make full use of our equipment. When I think back to the days of overhead projectors and slides in cardboard frames, which were often stuck in the projector or appeared upside down, it makes me realise just how far we have come! We have adapted to three different venues, and, with the fantastic help of Gaye Illsley (and now Mike Eppel), somehow it all keeps working. The technology is certainly safe in their hands.

After 13 years on the committee of Enfield u3a, it is time for me to step down and give someone else the opportunity to get involved. I have enjoyed my time on the committee and have seen many changes over the years. I will certainly miss being part of such a friendly group.

Please consider joining the committee. New ideas are the lifeblood of our group, and we are always happy to welcome new people, new ideas and fresh enthusiasm. You may not know what to expect when you first join – I certainly didn't – but you might find, as I did, that it becomes a very rewarding experience!

FORTHCOMING MONTHLY MEETINGS

Monthly meetings are held at the Revival Christian Church, 47 London Road, Enfield EN2 6DS on the second Wednesday of every month. Visitors are welcome to attend up to two meetings (payment £2 per meeting). Doors open at 1.30pm when tea will be served. Meetings start at 2.30pm prompt.

14th October
Annual General Meeting, followed by a talk by Enfield Chase Rotary Club on the work they do in the Borough.

11th November
ALIENS - WHAT ARE THE CHANCES? by Peter Altman
The search for alien life is now mainstream science, and this talk begins with our place in the Universe. The main point is always the evidence and how good it is. We hear of historical and modern UFO sightings, abductions and meetings. The talk includes props and a card trick.

9th December
CHRISTMAS HITS by Martin Orkin
We enjoyed Martin Orkin's fascinating talks earlier this year about Simon & Garfunkel, and the early years of The Beatles (see Sidney Grant's review). Martin returns in December with a Christmas themed music talk for the festive season. He will be playing and discussing some of the records that have been hits at this time of year from 1942 - 1982 and slightly beyond: Bing Crosby, Elvis, Adam Faith, Wizzard, Band Aid and all points in between, including of course the Fab Four.

13th January
UNUSUAL TALES FROM WORLD WAR I by Andrew Stuart
Inspired by stories from my grandad who enlisted in 1914, my research uncovered little known incidents such as Colonel John Ward, an illiterate child navvy, who became the commanding officer of a regiment of medically unfit men fighting in the depths of Siberia. It was not all mud, blood and barbed wire. This talk uncovers some of the fascinating stories that have been forgotten in mainstream history.

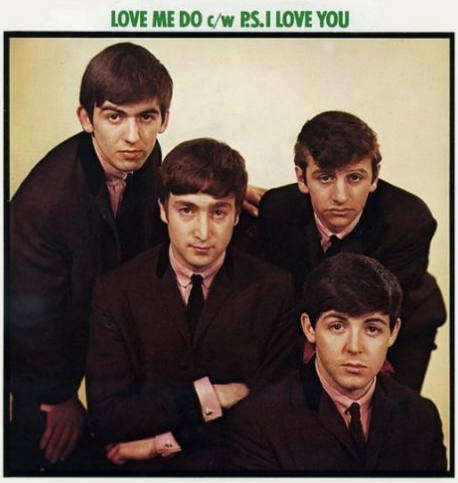

THE BEATLES STORY, PART 1 (1962 - 1965) by Martin Orkin

Having confused the meeting venue for my first visit to u3a, I found myself about to enter a church hall for prayers. I did not feel like praying; I just wanted to become a u3a member and go to my first talk (about the Beatles).

My call for "help" was answered. The lady I spoke to said, "We can work it out" – you need to go next door. I tried to "hold her hand" as a gesture of thanks, but she seemed reluctant, and we parted company.

It was a short walk next door to the Revival meeting hall where I became part of a crowd of people, either going in to take their seats or, like me, wishing to pay £20 to become a member. Formalities over, I found my friends and we sat down in anticipation of The Beatles Story, Part 1 (1962–1965). The expectation was not met – it was exceeded many fold by Martin Orkin's mastery of storytelling!

Martin involved us at every opportunity, transporting the audience back to their younger days with tantalising snippets of music, pictures and record covers. This was all blended together with a fascinating narrative of the Beatles' struggle for recognition, the opposition they faced in America, and how Brian Epstein became their champion.

Original Single 1962

We wanted the music to keep playing and the incredible tale to continue. We wanted to know more about the emerging power struggle between John and Paul. If we could not wait for the follow-up talk, Part 2, there was the opportunity to buy Martin's hardback book and pre-order the second volume.

My membership had opened a potpourri of possibilities, and this one was a cracker.

TALK TO EDMONTON ROTARY CLUB

On Wednesday 2nd September I was invited to speak to Edmonton Rotary Club about Enfield u3a and how we work. There were 13 members in attendance at the meeting which took place in The Winchmore after a very nice lunch. I was asked to speak for 10 to 15 minutes and then answer any questions. I said that they could ask questions as I went along, with the result that the discussion was much more interesting and lasted about 45 minutes.

The talk was very well received: I could not have been made more welcome, and I was thanked profusely for coming.

u3a WEEK

As part of U3A Week, Enfield u3a was well represented in Enfield Town precinct, where committee members and volunteers came together to promote our organisation and the many activities available to our members.

u3a week

19th-27th September 2026

Our information table attracted interest from members of the general public, giving us the opportunity to explain what Enfield u3a has to offer, including our wide range of interest groups, social activities and opportunities to meet new people and make new friends.

A big thank you to all the committee members and volunteers who gave up their time to support the event. Your enthusiasm and commitment helped to raise awareness of Enfield u3a within the local community and hopefully encouraged some new members to come and join us. It was a very positive and enjoyable event, and a great opportunity to showcase all that Enfield u3a has to offer.

GROUPS' REPORT

Our new u3a year has now started and we have a lot of new members, which is very exciting for our groups.

I am currently trying to start a Cycling group and an Ageing Now group. Anyone who would like to join these or to find out more about them, please contact me. Also let me know if you want to start a new group. (My details are below and at the back of the magazine).

I am standing down from being the Group Coordinator, so if anyone would like to step in, I will be happy to help ease you into this role, which can be very rewarding.

I would like to thank all our Group Leaders for their time and efforts in running their groups, as without them we wouldn't have a u3a. Also, for their help and kindness in making my job a lot easier.

The Singing group has been temporarily suspended as we need a pianist. Do you or someone you know play the piano/keyboard and could help us out for two hours on the second Tuesday of the month?

All our groups are listed in the back of the magazine, so take another look and see whether there is something you haven't considered before. Please contact me if you are interested in joining any of the groups.

PROPOSAL FOR A NEW GROUP: AGEING NOW

Here's the proposal for a new group - for over-70s only, men and women, no upper age limit!

The basic concept is a very simple one, to share our ideas and experience of one of life's most common adventures: Getting - and being - old in today's world. The emphasis would be on face-to-face interaction, because conversation is so good for the heart and the head! Each gathering would have a focus-theme decided by the group in advance, which might include:

- Attitudes to ageing, stereotypes, cliches
- Change in much later life, maybe moving house, isolation
- Inspirations: role models, books, films, images.

If anyone is interested, we could have a very informal meeting in a local cafe or my home near Enfield Town. Eight members maximum (including the host) to facilitate the conversation.

This may not attract much attention but the idea is one I believe in (conversation-based, but could evolve into a friendship/support group). There are two Ageing Now groups in a local u3a, so it's a viable proposition.

Tessa Calvert-Linnell

This proposed new group is open to members of Enfield u3a who are over 70 years of age. If you are interested, please contact the Groups Coordinator Sue Sloggett (email: susansloggett.10@outlook.com or mobile: 07983 475731).

GENEALOGY GROUP 2

We are a new group, having only had two meetings so far. If anyone is interested in joining, please let one of the committee members know. We meet on the last Monday of the month in the Community Room, Enfield Town Library at 2 pm.

WEST END THEATRE: OLIVER!

On 16th September, a group of 20 of us went to see Oliver! at the Gielgud Theatre. Some members weren't interested in this theatre trip, as they thought they'd seen enough of Oliver! over the years. However, they hadn't seen Matthew Bourne's critically acclaimed production.

Director and choreographer Matthew Bourne was praised for how smoothly he balanced the darkness of Dickensian poverty with the joyfulness of Lionel Bart's original score.

Our audience was stunned by the brutality of the second half but leapt to their feet to join in the cheering and clapping of the standing ovation.

Simon Lipkin as Fagin absolutely stole the show and received fantastic reviews.

We thought everybody was very good, including Nancy, particularly in her heart-wrenching version of "As Long as He Needs Me", and, of course, the dark portrayal of Bill Sykes.

The only thing missing was Bullseye, who was heard but not seen!

This wonderful version of Oliver! is definitely worth experiencing, no matter how many times you've seen the show before!

OUTING TO HASTINGS

On 21st August a coachload of Enfield u3a passengers escaped the heat at home in pursuit of a sea breeze. Our destination - Hastings.

Hastings is a town of great historical importance; it gave its name to the famous battle, it is an original Cinque Port and William the Conqueror built his first British castle here.

We arrived without mishap and set off to explore the many nooks and crannies Hastings had to offer.

Lots of us braved the East Hill Cliff Railway (the UK's steepest funicular railway) which offered panoramic views over the seaside town at its summit. Some of us then travelled on the West Hill Lift travelling through a tunnel leading up to the castle. Unfortunately, the castle was closed for essential repairs. Some people, not getting enough of a railway fix, travelled on Hastings Miniature Railway which was located among the sail lofts in the Old Town. This railway travels for about a third of a mile along the seafront to Marine Parade.

After exploring, there was much discussion and chatter about the various fish and chip eateries that were to be found. Many were recommended but I found a small restaurant right by the drop-off point which served up sea bass. Yum! There were plenty of seaside shops and a nearby shopping mall to explore and buy the usual keepsakes.

Unfortunately for us the heavens opened for the last hour or so, after much rumbling of thunder. Everyone sought shelter, some used this time to have afternoon tea. The rain may have dampened our clothes and bodies but not our spirits. We left at 5pm, eagerly awaiting newly watered gardens at home. Had it rained in Enfield? No, it hadn't.

Many thanks Gaynor for arranging such an enjoyable escape from the heat.

OUTING TO CHIDDINGSTONE CASTLE

On a lovely hot day in July, a group of 45 members visited Chiddingstone Castle.

After a warm welcome and brief introduction, we split into two groups: one enjoyed a cream tea, while the other had a short history talk and guided tour of the downstairs rooms before the groups swapped over.

The 16th century castle was home to 12 generations of the Streatfeild family until the early 20th century, and was later remodelled in the style of a medieval castle.

The Streatfeild's sold the castle to Lord Astor in 1938. During the Second World War, it housed Canadian Forces personnel before becoming Long Dene School until 1954.

In 1955, Denys Eyre Bower bought the castle to live in and display his collections. After his death in 1977, he left the castle and collections to the nation, forming the Denys Eyre Bower Bequest.

We explored the house at our leisure, enjoying Denys Eyre Bower's collections (including Japanese, Stuart and Jacobite, Buddhist, and Ancient Egyptian artefacts) as well as his study, library and bedroom.

After touring the castle, we crossed the lake bridge for a short walk around Chiddingstone village. We stopped at the 15th century Castle Pub, visited St Mary the Virgin Church, saw the Stores and Post Office, and some people found the Chiding Stone.

While waiting for the coach, everyone agreed it had been a lovely day.

Thank you, Gaynor, for arranging such a lovely trip.

Cheri Ford

"It is my wish that the collections be kept intact in their present setting so that future generations may enjoy them as I do now."

FREEDOM PASS TRIPS

The Freedom Pass Group had some great visits during the summer, despite the heat.

In July we went to the Trent Park House of Secrets, the new museum in the mansion at Trent Park. The museum has a fascinating story to tell of the history of the house and its important role in the Second World War. It is a tale of espionage, courage and creative deception which remained untold until now.

If you haven't been to Trent Park House of Secrets yet, it is well worth a visit both for the museum and the adjoining cafe.

In August we went east to Valance House, a small museum located in a house of Tudor origins near Chadwell Heath.

Lots of interesting exhibits centring on the Barking and Dagenham area, its history, industries, famous people and changes through the twentieth century.

In September, we gave Eltham Palace another try and it was well worth it.

Eltham Palace in South East London boasts a unique blend of history. At its heart lies a grand medieval hall, part of a former royal residence frequented by English monarchs.

In the 1930s, the site underwent a dramatic transformation when eccentric millionaires, the Courtaulds, acquired the property and extended it in the Art Deco style, showcasing cutting-edge design, luxurious living and state-of-the-art technology.

It was a beautiful day to wander around the grounds too and, of course, another great cafe.

WALKING GROUP

On a lovely September day, a group of us set out to walk the route of the Boat Race (almost - we started from Barnes Bridge and did it in reverse) along the Thames Pathway.

The first part of the walk, on the south side of the river was like a quiet country path under overhanging trees passing school playing fields and wildlife areas. There were plenty of different water birds to spot. The tide was very low but at other times this stretch of river is busy with rowing crews.

We crossed over to the north side of the River Thames at Hammersmith Bridge. This is one of the oldest suspension bridges in the world. It is now feeling its age and is no longer open to motor vehicles but this makes it a pleasant crossing for pedestrians (as long as you can dodge the cyclists).

At Hammersmith we called in at Riverside Studios for some refreshments. These used to be BBC studios where Blue Peter, Dixon of Dock Green and early episodes of Doctor Who were recorded. This side of the river was busier with plenty of eateries and smart new apartments all the way into Fulham. The old Harrods Furniture repository (now made into apartments) could be seen on the south bank.

We stopped briefly at Craven Cottage, home of Fulham FC then moved on to Bishops Park and Fulham Palace gardens. This used to be the summer holiday home of the Bishop of London but is now a public park. These are among the earliest botanic gardens in the UK, covering 13 acres (including a 2.5 acre walled garden).

This was the end of the walk but the whole party crossed over Putney Bridge for lunch at a local hostelry. Most then made their way home by tube but some took the Thames Clipper service back along the river.
